

For over 40 years CGI has worked at the heart of UK public safety and law enforcement, driving innovation to help law enforcement meet the challenges of 21st Century Policing. We have a unique capability, born of the expertise of our experts and our experience working across the criminal justice system. Having delivered the likes of 'National Citizen Engagement Tools' [The Netherlands], 'Case Management' [France], 'Traffic Offence Reporting Tools' [Denmark] & 'Enterprise Content Management Solutions' [Finland & US], CGI has unrivalled experience helping public safety and law enforcement agencies protect the public and the most vulnerable in our society.

In today's complex trans-border policing environment of 'the public-private-and online', CGI's role is law enforcements partner in optimising its data and information management. Using cutting edge skills and technology such as advanced analytics, intelligent automation and inter-active visualisation tools, we enable policing organisations to gain a decisive-policing advantage over those wishing to cause harm to Canada and it's communities. Our services, solutions and enterprise architecture approaches allow organisations to efficiently and effectively exploit their data, readily create usable information, and execute on timely and accurate actionable intelligence.

There is no better evidence of that coming together than with the UK's "Police National Database", arguably the most comprehensive single national law enforcement intelligence system in the world. CGI has designed, built and operated this system for UK Policing for over 11 years. Bringing together over 250 intelligence and information systems from all 55 law enforcement agencies, we provide officers with real-time access to over 4.7 billion law enforcement records, with over one billion system-recognised associated links and relationships; allowing officers to have not only the most comprehensive real time view, but providing immediate visibility of all the relevant relationships, risks, opportunities and interdiction points. Continually updated with the likes of facial searching capability, bulk and smart searching, with over 10 Million searches conducted annually, CGI is proud to bring the power of de-silo'ed intelligence into the hands of officers in every corner of the UK.
