Celebrating Police Week

For Immediate Release: May 11, 2026

(LOCATION, ON) – Police Week in Ontario runs from May 10 to 16 across the Province of Ontario and the (YOUR POLICE SERVICE/DETACHMENT) is proud to join with police services to kick off Police Week (#PoliceWeekON) and the police members who work hard to keep communities safe. This week, we will be celebrating the work front-line police officers, 9-1-1 communicators and police professionals do to keep Ontarians safe and healthy.

The provincial theme for 2026 is “Protecting Ontario through Service.” This year’s theme provides an opportunity to highlight the important work police services do to protect Ontario. It also celebrates policing as a profession and emphasizes how police services work in collaboration with community partners to continue to keep our province safe.

“Police Week presents us with an opportunity to focus on the great work our officers and police professionals do every day. It also coincides with the Peace Officers Memorial Day, which is recognized internationally on May 15th, said (YOUR POLICE SERVICE/DETACHMENT SPOKESPERSON). “Observed since 1970, Police Week brings Ontario police services and communities together to honour and celebrate police officers and personnel for the extraordinary work they do every day.”

Throughout this week, (YOUR POLICE SERVICE/DETACHMENT) will be highlighting the many ways in which our members continue to serve our community.

The annual Police Week in Ontario is sponsored by the Ontario Association of Chiefs of Police (OACP) and the Ontario Ministry of the Solicitor General. It is part of the National Police Week led by the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police.
